Empora Logos

Logos

All of our Empora logos are available to download here, and through the pink links in this doc.

Types of logos

In most applications, the only logo you will need is our primary logo. This goes for both digital and printed content. This logo should be used in the garnet (reddish-pink) color, or in white when necessary.

Empora

Empora

Keep an eye out for orange logos that may still be floating around - and delete them when you find them.

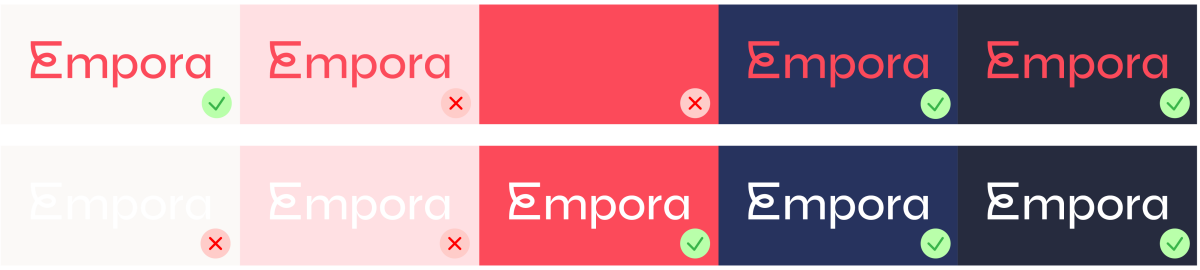
In addition to our primary logo, we have our “E” logo mark, which is mostly for use online or as a graphic elements in print designs (coasters, stickers, etc.) The logo mark comes in garnet and white, with some iterations having a garnet “E” and a pink circular background, or the white “E” with a white circle around it.

Our last logo, and our least-used, is the full “Empora Title” logo. Instances where this is necessary are few and far between, so generally, you won’t need to worry about this one.

Logo Usage

We love our logo! So we want it to be as legible as possible at all times. This is done by making sure that there is enough contrast between the logo and it’s background. Below are some do’s and don’ts when it comes to pairing the Empora logo with solid or photo backgrounds.

Generally speaking, the more contrast, the better! Both the garnet and white logos work best with high-contrast backgrounds (such as Sapphire 90 and 100).



When working with photo backgrounds, similar rules apply. Try to pair the logo with a uniform, high-contrast background (such as a very light or very dark background, pictured to the left). Avoid busy and low-contrast background images (such as those featured on the right) in order to ensure the logo is both easy to distinguish, and displayed with integrity.

Empora follows WCAG AA accessibility standards, ensuring that more people can access our content and services. If you think a color pairing is accessible but aren't sure, you can find out here.

Black Logos

Black Empora logos are exclusively for use in black and white applications, such as black and white printing. You can find black Empora logos here.

Brand Fonts

Brand Fonts

Empora uses two typefaces to exemplify our brand: Tiempos, and Red Hat. Tiempos is used for headlines and titles, while Red Hat is used for general copy. There are some instances where you may not have access to these fonts, such as when using programs like Microsoft Word. In those cases, it is best to use the default sans-serif font (such as Helvetica or Arial).

And this is body copy. Lorem ipsum dolor sit amet, consectetur adipiscing elit, sed do eiusmod tempor incididunt ut labore et dolore magna aliqua. Ut enim ad minim veniam, quis nostrud exercitation ullamco laboris nisi ut aliquip ex ea commodo consequat.

Tiempos

If you've got something important to say, say it in Tiempos. As previously mentioned, Tiempos is used for titles, headings, and "H1" text. It comes in 3 weights, Regular,

Medium, and Semibold. You may use whichever best suits the application, with Medium being the most commonly used weight.

Red Hat

When you need to do some explaining, or not to scream something from the rooftops, use Red Hat. Red Hat is our typeface for regular text and body copy; clean and easy to read. Red Hat is can also be used for subheads, or as a bold counterpoint to Tiempos. It comes in a variety of weights and styles, but you will mostly only need Regular. Red Hat comes in two versions, “Text” and “Display”. “Text” is for use as body copy or in printed material. “Display” is for headlines or digital displays, such as Google Slides.

Red Hat Text Light, 24pt

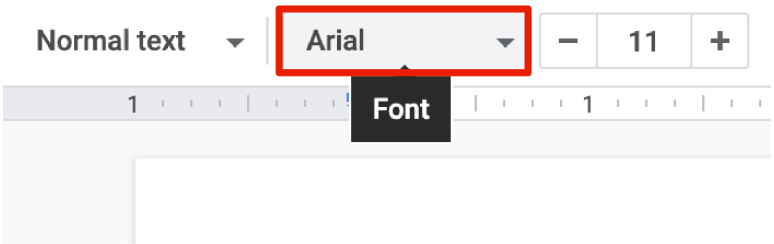
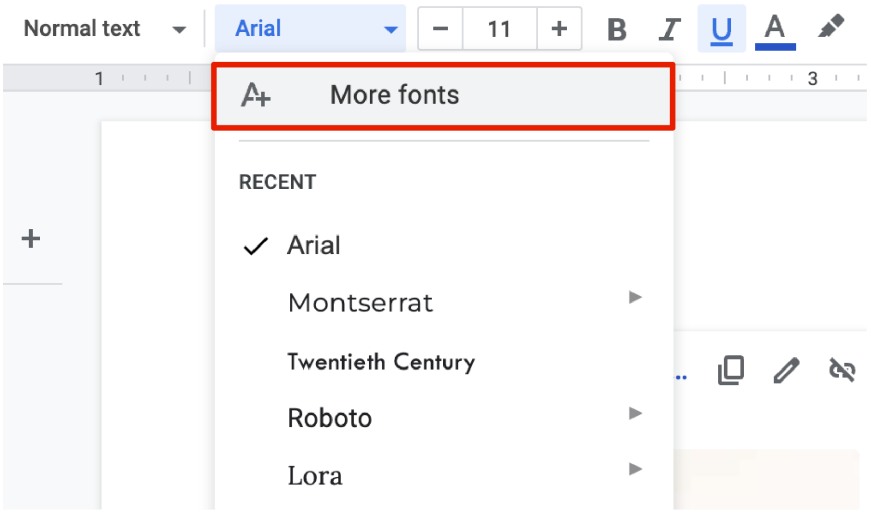
You can add Red Hat to your Google Doc/Side etc. by going to font menu.



Then select “More fonts” in the dropdown menu.



You can then search “Red Hat” in the search bar, and select “Red Hat Text” and “Red Hat Display”. Click OK when you have both selected, and you’re done!

COLOR

Color

Brand Colors

Empora has an extensive color palette, but what we use the most are our primary colors and gradients. Empora's use of color is always bold, without being over the top. Aside from our primary colors, there is an array of supporting colors that are occasionally appropriate, and some "variant" colors that are only used in the context of product design.

Primary Colors

Our primary colors are the colors most aligned with the Empora brand that gets used in just about all branded collateral we produce. When looking for a plain light background, Onyx 5 is your go-to, and Sapphire 100 will meet most of your needs when you require something darker and more serious in tone. And of course, Garnet 60 serves as an excellent pop of color and is the anchor of our brand.

Onyx 5 : Background	Garnet 20	Garnet 60	Sapphire 90	Sapphire 100
#FBF9F7	#FFE0E3	#FC4A5A	#1D2E65	#262B3E

Gradients

A visual element that we often employ on both digital and print assets, is gradients. We have five standard brand gradients, the first three being the most commonly used (Sapphire-Sapphire, Garnet-Sapphire, and Garnet-Amethyst). When applying gradients, some general rules of thumb are to 1. set the gradient at an angle 2. ensure that the gradient extends beyond the edges of the graphic it fills.

Sapphire 60 (#4670FF) - Sapphire 100 (#262B3E)	Garnet 60 (#FC4A5A) - Sapphire 100 (#262B3E)	Garnet 60 (#FC4A5A) - Amethyst 60 (#9670FF)	Onyx 5 (#FBF9F7) - Garnet 20 (#FFE0E3)	Onyx 5 (#FBF9F7) - Sapphire 20 (#E4EBFF)

Supporting Colors

These colors are tints and shades of our primary colors, with the addition of Amethyst, which is used in the Garnet-Amethyst gradient. These colors should be used sparingly, but are available when necessary. Overall, the primary colors and gradients will be your main tools when it comes to color.
